READ & TALK A City Quiz

After completing Project 1, students take turns to ask the rest of the class to guess their city. Students can ask the questions on page 36 of the Reader, to try to guess the city.
This can be done as a whole class, in small groups, or pairs.

City Fact Files

After completing Project 1, students make fact files about other cities. Students can draw or find pictures to decorate the fact files. They can then be displayed in class, organized by country or continent.

READ & TALK I-Spy

Find some pictures of cities from magazines or the internet.
Play I-Spy with the pictures. Ask the class to guess what you have chosen from the picture: I spy with my little eye something beginning with ... Students can then play I-Spy in small groups or pairs, using magazine pictures, or pictures from the Reader.

READ & TALK A City in My Country

Students do research, using books or the internet, about a city in their country. Then they design a poster for tourists, to promote the city. They can find or draw pictures of the city, and they can talk or write about the city, using sentences in the Reader as models.

READ & TALK A New City

Students design a new city. First they decide what it's called, where it is, if it's big or small, what you can do in the city, etc. Then they draw a map of it, and they can talk or write about it like this: This city is called [name]. It's a big/small city. You can ... etc. Students can then vote for their favorite city.
